SCOTTSBLUFF TO HAVE DAILY PAPER, MAY 1ST

Scottsbluff Star-Herald Company Is Incorporated—Will Start Afternoon Daily

Scottsbluff Star-Herald: The Star-Herald is undergoing some decided changes this week. Articles of incorporation have been filed making the same a stock company. A. B. Wood and H. J. Wisner retain their interests in the company and R. J. Dobell of Julesburg has also acquired an interest, being one of the incorporators. Mr. Dobell comes here a stranger, but is an experienced newspaper man and a live wire, and his personality will soon be felt in the community. The Star-Herald building has been enlarged, much new equipment, including a new model 14 linotype, has been added, and when all of the equipment is in place the office will be better equipped than ever to put out first-class work in every way. The weekly Star-Herald will be continued and in addition, early in May, an afternoon daily will be published. The daily will be metropolitan, having the latest press dispatches and syndicate features, and in addition the latest western Nebraska and eastern Wyoming news. This news will be received so that our readers can get same from 8 to 12 hours earlier than any daily now giving it. Scottsbluff and the neighboring towns are growing so rapidly that the new company feel that they should keep abreast with the other wonderful developments, and therefore the daily. Mr. Wisner and Mr. Dobell will have active management of the new organization, and they will devote their time, experience and energy in the interests of their patrons.

Why Constipation Injures
The bowels are the natural sewerage system of the body. When they become obstructed by constipation a part of the poisonous matter which they should carry off is absorbed into the system, making you feel dull and stupid, and interfering with the digestion and assimilation of food. This condition is quickly relieved by Chamberlain's Tablets. Obtainable everywhere.

Mrs. Leo Berry, daughter-in-law of County Judge and Mrs. L. A. Berry, who has been in a critical condition at the hospital in Grand Island for the past five weeks, is reported slowly improving. She was removed Monday from the hospital to the home of an uncle at Shelton.

A NEW INDUSTRY

United States Geological Survey Gives Facts and Figures Regarding the Potash Production

Potash salts were produced in the United States in 1915 to the value of $342,000, according to the United States Geological Survey. Though this figure is of interest as showing a small beginning in the domestic potash industry, it becomes of little importance in the total needs of the country are considered, for it represents a quantity consumed in less than a week under normal conditions.

Reduced Imports

The imports of refined potash salts in 1915 were 76,141 long tons, or slightly more than 25 per cent of those in 1913, the latest normal year of importation. Imports of the potash fertilizers, kainite, manure salts, and double manure salts, amounted to 20,427 long tons, or about 3 per cent of those in 1913. Taking all the potash salts together, the imports in 1915 were about one-tenth of those under normal conditions.

Progress in Domestic Industry

In the Survey report on the subject, W. C. Phalen states that potash was recovered within the United States as a by-product from the manufacture of Portland cement at Riverside, Calif. By-product potash from this source has yielded a considerable revenue, owing to the abnormally high price for these salts, and in obtaining it two other purposes have been subserved—first, the saving of additional material to be converted into cement, and second, the elimination of the dust nuisance. At Riverside a discharge of 100 tons of dust a day over the surrounding orange groves has been prevented.

Potassium sulphate from alunite was first placed on the market late in October, 1915, by the Mineral Products Corporation, at Marysville, Utah. The production has not been large so far, owing to the incidents connected with a pioneer enterprise of this character. Though certain foreign deposits of alunite have been worked for potash alum, this is the first recorded yield of potash salts as such from alunite. The product is of high grade.

The plant of the Potash Products Co., of Omaha, Neb., was established in the spring of 1915 at Hoffland, near Alliance. During about half of the year the company obtained potash salts from the brine of an alkaline lake in this region.

In addition to output from the above sources, potash was marketed in 1915 from kelp obtained along the Pacific coast.

Future Sources of Production

Experimental work on the production of potash salts from different sources was active during the year, and in places this activity has been succeeded by the construction of plants. Operations are in progress at Searles Lake and at Keeler, on the shores of Owens Lake, Calif. It is reported that one company is erecting a plant near Great Salt Lake and that another will soon be started at the south end of the lake. The by-product bittern at solar evaporation plants on San Francisco Bay has also received some attention.

Another plant has been planned for the extraction of potash salts and alumina from alunite at Marysville, Utah.

Manufacturers of Portland cement, having had their attention directed to a possible revenue from by-product potash, will not be slow in thoroughly investigating their raw materials. Already the Security Cement and Lime Co., near Hagerstown, Md., is reported to be installing a plant for the recovery of potash salts.

Great activity has been manifested in experiments for the recovery of potash from the silicate rocks, such as feldspar and leucite, from the felsite, and from greensand. The expense involved in obtaining potash salts from these sources, together with the uncertainties with which manufacturers will be confronted and the keen German competition likely to be met, are factors of the war in Europe, have tended to discourage the plant.

However, in many laboratories researches have been in progress, some of which, according to reports, offer prospects of profitable commercial development if feldspars and other potash-rich rocks in sufficient quantity and purity can be found and made available.

A small quantity of potash salts was probably produced from these silicate rocks and minerals during 1915 and found its way into mixed fertilizers without intermediate refinement.

PERU NORMAL

Miss Rose Clarke and Miss Esther Clarke were in Lincoln on business Saturday.

Miss Carpenter, who has charge of the music supervision in the training school, presented on Tuesday evening the children of the public school together with the children of the training school in a splendid rendition of the cantata "The Walrus and the Carpenter". The chapel was crowded and the children did excellent work. Dr. House has arranged to have this cantata repeated during the May Festival this spring. Miss Carpenter is to be commended for the superior quality of work being done in music in the training school.

The Fortnightly Art Club and the Peru Commercial Club were instrumental in bringing to Peru Professor Nicolet of the Department of Landscape Gardening of the University of Nebraska, who talked to the citizens of Peru Wednesday evening on civic improvement. His lecture was a very timely and practical one. A contest has been opened and several prizes are offered for improvement in yards and vacant lots, also for well-kept gardens. Professor Nicolet addressed the students at the convocation period Wednesday on needs of improvement in rural communities.

On Saturday evening Professor Jensen of the Wesleyan University lectured on the Geography of War-ridden Europe. This was one of a series of much appreciated lectures being given under the auspices of the Science Club.

Friday was "Peruvian Day", and speakers representing the senior class presented the whys and whys of this year's annual. More than six hundred Peruvians were ordered—a larger number than ever before ordered in the history of the school. The Peruvian has for several years been one of the best annuals in the state, and this year's book promises to be in no way inferior to previous productions.
